

Chasing

Justin Rizzo © 2011

Verse 1

I've been chasin' the wind, Trying hard to win, A race I was never meant to run
Seeking for selfish gain, All the while using Your name
As a stool to stand upon to hear mine proclaimed

Pre chorus 1

So many wasted days, I've spent living for the dream
Seeking a life of comfort, No matter what the means
So many wasted days, I've spent living for the dream
Until I finally realized, That life isn't what it seems

Chorus

I finally got it figured out
True happiness, Can only be given by You
Jesus, most joyful man

I finally got it figured out
My goal sole purpose, Is to be loved by You
And to love You in return

Verse 2

All that was to my gain, I count it now as loss, For the sake of knowing You Jesus
I forget what lies behind, I press on to win the prize
There is so much more of You that I have to know

There is so much more of You that I have to know
There is so much more of me, that's left to give
